

Sampling tests meet with National Standards

Yoshinoya Weibo (25 December 2012) : We are delighted to have been notified by Daxing Animal Health Inspection Bureau this morning that the results of their sampling tests on the “Liuhe chicken meat” kept in our warehouse meet with the national standards. “Quality with Conscience” has always been our business philosophy and we shall continue to apply our stringent controls on the quality of our raw material supplies. To enable consumers to have a confident and relaxing dining experience, we shall enthusiastically work with our industry peers to elevate the food safety in the upstream sectors constructively.
